"We are pleased that Dr. Blanchard, a seasoned executive who has previously served as a biotech President and CEO, has agreed to step in as our interim CEO as we search for Anika's next leader," said Dr. Joseph Bower, Chairman of Anika's Board of Directors. "With Dr. Blanchard's experience, as well as her service on our Board since August 2018, we expect this to be a smooth transition. Given her experience in leading orthopaedic device, joint preservation and restoration businesses, we are fortunate to be able to call on her to help build on Anika's strong foundation and continue its evolution into a leader in joint preservation and restoration. We are confident in Anika's prospects and the strong and deep leadership team we have in place as we continue to enhance value for our shareholders, customers and other stakeholders."

"We are all saddened by Joe's sudden passing, but we also share a commitment to carrying out the initiatives crafted by him and the rest of the executive team and Board. "Since joining the Board, I have developed a deep appreciation for the Company's proprietary offerings and exceptional talent. Anika is well-positioned in its markets and has significant growth prospects. I look forward to leveraging my past experiences and collaborating with the team to maintain the high level of operating discipline while solidifying an expanding position and share in the $7 billion sports and regenerative medicine market."

The Company plans to issue its fourth-quarter and full-year 2019 financial results after the close of the market on February 20, 2020 and will hold its investor conference call on the same day, February 20, 2020, at 5:00 p.m. ET to discuss its financial results, business highlights, and outlook.
